

Accessibility: Perkins Center for the Arts does not discriminate on the basis of disability in admission, access, or employment.

Perkins Center for the Arts is continuously making facility updates and is currently planning renovations to make all public areas of the Center fully accessible. Until the renovations begin, there is limited physical accessibility on the sites. In Moorestown, there is marked accessible parking in the parking lot located off of Camden Avenue and a designated barrier-free ramp entrance nearby between the main building and carriage house. The first floor of the Moorestown building and its Carriage House are wheelchair accessible. There is currently NO wheelchair accessible bathroom in the Moorestown building. The Collingswood building has a ground level entrance with a flat threshold that provides a barrier free entrance. At this time there is a temporary accessible bathroom on the main floor of the Collingswood building.

Perkins Center for the Arts will, to the best of its ability, locate classes in accessible areas of the facility. If you need a class to be located in an accessible location, please inform Perkins' staff at the time of registration by calling 856-235-6488.

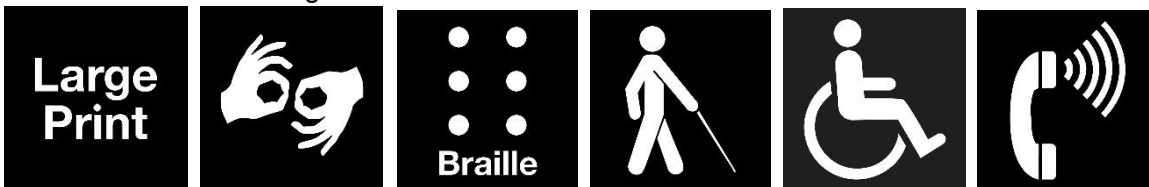

If you have questions concerning access, wish to request a sign language interpreter or accessible accommodations please contact Perkins Center at 856-235-6488 (TTY/TDD call 711) or email to create@perkinscenter.org. Early requests are encouraged; two weeks will generally allow us to provide seamless access.

For information about large-print materials, visual description (for guided tours for visitors who are blind or have low vision), Sign Language Interpreters, Open Captioning, Digital Documents, any other alternative formats, booklets featuring artwork in second floor display areas, or to arrange for materials to be created, please contact Perkins Center at 856-235-6488, (TTY/TDD call 711), or email create@perkinscenter.org.
